MAESTRO ONE'S 30TH ANNIVERSARY

DARRYL ONE

MESSAGE FROM THE MAESTRO

We have all seen the world change over the years. Change is inevitable. Even in the musical world, much has changed in every genre, including the orchestra world. We have seen the symphonic world expand to include multimedia, theater, and dance, while rock, jazz, and hip hop make inroads. Most of it will come and go, but the pillars that still hold up musical history and will be forever remembered are the names of Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, and more. Little gems like "P.T. Barnum" or "Krazy Kat" give us splashes of color while "1812" or "Beethoven's Fifth" last forever. With that in mind, the VSO thrives because we adapt and preserve the core literature while bringing "Bohemian Rhapsody," "Star Wars," and "Cirque de la Symphonie." This coming season features twin sisters playing the Brahms Double Concerto, an NFL-based symphony, the ultimate Eagles experience, a concert devoted to the immortal Ludwig van Beethoven and the Van Cliburn gold medalist, and a film of the first manned lunar landing with the epic "Planets" by Gustav Holst. That is variety and history all in one season. Come for a musical experience like no other with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

The mission of the Victoria Symphony Society is to enrich, entertain, educate, and inspire our community through symphonic concerts of the highest possible artistic quality within the framework of available resources.
